

To whom it may concern,

Agnieszka Drzaszcz was employed by RTE Radio (Ireland's National Radio Station) in April of 2004 as part of a series of radio documentaries about the ten states about to join the European Union.

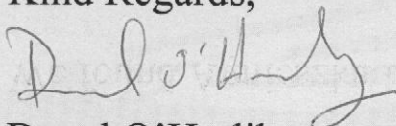

The series, entitled 'The East Link', looked at political, social and cultural life in each of the states and hence the production of the programme on Poland required an interpreter with an excellent knowledge of English language across a wide range of topics and an ability to interpret long interviews conducted in a 'conversational style'. These skills needed to be employed in a manner fit to broadcast on a national radio station.

We found Agnieszka Drzaszcz to be superb in each of these regards.

I would have no difficulty recommending Agnieszka Drzaszcz as a highly professional interpreter and wish her all the very best in the future.

Should you require any further information please do not hesitate to contact me.

Kind Regards,

Donal O'Herlihy
Producer, RTE Radio.
